DETAILED ACTION

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-19 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-65 of copending Application No. 10/618,108. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the microcapsule comprising a shell and core comprising a phase-change material and a nucleating of the application herein is obviously the same as the microcapsule of the co-pending application. In essence the claims of the two applications are not patentably distinct from each other.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bryant et al, 5,366,801 in view of JP 9031451.

The primary reference '801 discloses a fabric with reversible enhanced thermal properties. The fabric comprises a coating comprising microcapsules with phase change material as claimed. The prior art being different in that it does not disclose the use of a nucleating agent in addition to the phase-change agent as claimed.

The abstract of the secondary reference discloses thermal storage medium containing an organic compound causing a phase change and a specific nucleating agent. Patentees teach that the phase change agent is a straight-chain aliphatic HC having $\geq 10C$, together with a nucleating agent which is and an amine derivative, an alcohol derivative or a carboxylic acid derivative of the phase change agent. Patentees further teach that the two components may be enclosed in a microcapsule. It is the Examiner's position that microcapsules as claimed, comprising phase change agent together with a nucleating agent as claimed would have been obvious based on the disclosures of the cited prior arts.
